

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE increasing interest manifested in the study of the New Testament in the original Greek is one of the most hopeful signs of the spread of a more enlightened Christian education, as well as one of the most potent factors in such education.

The object of this work is to SIMPLIFY.

Greek, especially the New Testament diction, is one of the easiest of languages, because of its beautiful precision, when divested of the artificial difficulties thrown around it by our old school Grammars. Bishop Ellicott says, "No one who is really in earnest, and to whom God has given a fair measure of ability, can for a moment justly plead that an accurate knowledge of the Greek Testament is beyond his grasp, and a power of analysing the connexion of its weighty sentences not abundantly ministered to him. I studiously limit myself to saying the Greek of the New Testament: . . . its plain, hearty, truly simple, but truly Greek diction, is, I am confident, above the reach of no one." And again : "If the Scriptures are divinely inspired, then surely it is a young man's noblest occupation, patiently and lovingly to note every change of expression, every turn of language, every variety of inflexion, to analyse and to investigate, to contrast and to compare, until he has obtained some accurate knowledge and conception of those outward elements, which are permeated by the inward influence and power of the Holy Spirit of God. As he wearily traces out the subtle distinctions that underlie some illative particle or characterise some doubtful preposition, let him cheer himself with the reflection, that every effort of thought he is then enabled to make, is, with God's blessing, a step towards the inner shrine, a nearer approach to a recognition of the thoughts of an apostle, yea, a less dim perception of the mind of Christ." And as an able writer in the "Quarterly," for January, 1863, truly says, "Scripture itself attaches peculiar power to the very words of inspiration. Translations must be clouded with many shades of human imperfection. But we are thinking of the study of the Greek chiefly with reference to the uneasiness, the suspicions, the unsettlement of mind, which recent avowals of religious scepticism have so widely spread. Few remedies can be found for this more efficacious than recurring at once to the fountain-head of truth."

We have spoken of the precision of the Greek diction of the New Testament ; it is truly wonderful how capable is the Greek language of expressing the finest shades of thought, and the Holy Spirit in selecting it as the medium through which to convey to mankind the highest truths, has provided a channel which had been polished and brightened to a high degree by centuries of brilliant orators, historians, poets, and philosophers, so that there might be no doubt or cavilling among men as to the precise meaning embodied in each word. While in order that the most unlearned might understand it, the stilted and highly artificial styles of many great Greek writers was ignored, the Holy Spirit choosing for the most part "unlearned and ignorant men," i. e., unspoiled by rhetoric, who wrote a vigorous, plain and natural style; while St. Paul and St. Luke, the two chief exceptions, are so filled with the dignity of their narrative and didactic subjects, as alike to reject the languid and indirect, though elegant expressions of the rhetorical school.

The writer in the "Quarterly," already quoted, says, respecting this precision in regard to one class of words alone, the Greek prepositions, "in the use of which such frightful laxity (looking to the truths involved in their right use, we cannot employ a lighter word) has been indulged and recommended even by professors of the language. If the most minute, most wonderful precision is found anywhere in that wonderfully precise language, it is in the prepositions. If anywhere that precision is observed in the New Testament, it is in these." And yet in the face of this we find the following in the "Congregational Manual," p. 47, on "The mode of Christian Baptism." There the writer says:—"Neither do the Greek prepositions in the New Testament which are translated into and out of the water, prove that the converts, whose baptism is there described, went into the water, . . . as the same words describe the position of both the baptizer and the baptized, and are elsewhere rendered to and from; so that the narrative simply says, they went to the water, and came up from it, leaving the mode of their baptism undecided, so far as these words are concerned"! The reader is simply referred to Lessons 36 and 37 of this work, to satisfy himself of the misleading nature of such statements as this.

The points in which this work is distinctive are as follows:—

- (1.) The nouns, both substantive and adjective, have been simplified and arranged in TWO declensions only.
- (2.) The primary force of the prepositions has been exhibited in a manner entirely novel.
- (3.) No words or forms have been introduced except such as are found in the New Testament.
- (4.) The exercises have, for the most part, been compiled directly from the New Testament, so that the student is habituated by degrees to the actual diction of the New Testament.

- (5.) The student is left to infer nothing for which judicious explanation can be given, and principles are constantly sought to be exemplified both directly and by analogy.

I would add that I am much indebted to the following works, from which I have frequently drawn both hints and matter, and which I have, I believe, acknowledged in their respective places. These are :—" Handbook to the Grammar of the Greek Testament," by the Rev. S. G. Green ; " Quarterly Review," for January, 1863, article on " New Testament ; " " Synonyms of the New Testament," by Dr. H. Tittmann of Leipzig ; and a little work, entitled " Greek Lessons," by W. H. Morris, now out of print. This latter so pleased me, that at first I determined on making my work simply an enlarged and improved edition of that, and designed solely for the New Testament, but as I proceeded I soon found this to be impossible and undesirable, and therefore, after the first few lessons, ceased to follow it in detail and only as a pattern.

I have only to add that the work has afforded me great pleasure and profit. It has been undertaken especially with a view to meet the wants of the students for home and foreign mission work * under my charge, and for all students of God's Word generally, who may not have had the benefit of a classical education, and yet long for a deeper and truer acquaintance with the Words of Truth and Life. A previous effort in behalf of the Hebrew of the Old Testament which I was enabled to make has proved so successful that I am encouraged to hope much for this. May God bless the effort to the increase of His kingdom, and to Him be glory and honour, now and for evermore.

LESSONS IN THE GREEK OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

LESSON I.—The Alphabet.

A	α	Alpha	a
B	β, or β	Beta	b
Γ	γ, or γ	Gamma	g	Always hard, as in go, nag .
Δ	δ	Delta	d
E	ε	Epsilon	ē	Short, as in mēt .
Z	ζ, or ζ	Zeta	z	Like ds , as in beds (Ital. mezzo).
H	η	Eta	ē	Long (or ee), as in meet .
Θ	θ, or θ	Thēta	th
I	ι	Iōta	i
K	κ	Kappa	k
Λ	λ	Lambda	l
M	μ	Mu	m
N	ν	Nu	n
Ξ	ξ	Xi	x
O	ο	Omīcron	ō	Short, as in dōt .
Π	π, or π	Pi	p
P	ρ, or ρ	Rho	r
Σ	σ, final s	Sigma	s
T	τ, or τ	Tau	t
Υ	υ	Upsilon	ū
Φ	φ, or φ	Phi	ph	Like f in fill, leaf .
X	χ	Chi	ch	Hard, as in chemist (Scotch loch).
Ψ	ψ	Psi	ps	As in tops .
Ω	ω	Omēga	ō	Long, as in bōne, stōne .

The student had now better turn to one of the Greek exercises which follow, and spell each word first in Greek, and afterwards naming the English equivalents.

6. Before μ , a labial becomes μ , a guttural γ , and a dental σ : thus, $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\rho\iota\beta\mu\alpha\iota$ becomes $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\rho\iota\mu\mu\alpha\iota$; $\beta\acute{\epsilon}\beta\rho\epsilon\chi\mu\alpha\iota$, $\beta\acute{\epsilon}\beta\rho\epsilon\gamma\mu\alpha\iota$; $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\upsilon\theta\mu\alpha\iota$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\upsilon\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$.
7. When two dentals come together the former often changes into σ .
8. The letter ν can stand only before dentals; before labials it becomes μ ; before a liquid, assimilation takes place; so that before λ it becomes λ ; before ρ it becomes ρ , etc. Before gutturals ν is converted into γ , but observe that whenever γ is found before another γ , or either of the other gutturals, it is always pronounced like ν ; thus, $\alpha\gamma\gamma\epsilon\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ is pronounced angelos.¹

LESSON IV.—Contraction.

TABLE OF VOWEL CONTRACTIONS.

Two vowels, or a vowel and a diphthong, occurring together in different syllables, are often contracted into one, according to the following Table:—

α	$\alpha, \epsilon, \text{ or } \eta$	} becomes $\hat{\alpha}$	α	$\alpha\iota, \epsilon\iota, \text{ or } \eta$	} becomes $\hat{\alpha}$ ϵ	α		ϵ	$\alpha\iota, \text{ or } \eta$
ϵ	$\alpha, \text{ or } \eta$	} „ $\hat{\eta}$	α	$\omicron\iota, \text{ or } \varphi$	} „ $\hat{\epsilon}$
α	$\omicron, \omega, \text{ or } \omicron\upsilon$		ϵ	φ
ϵ	ω	} „ $\hat{\omega}$	\omicron	$\alpha\iota, \text{ or } \varphi$	} „ $\hat{\epsilon}$
\omicron	$\alpha, \eta, \text{ or } \omega$		ϵ	$\omicron\iota$
ϵ	$\omicron\upsilon$	} „ $\hat{\omicron\upsilon}$	\omicron	$\epsilon\iota, \eta, \text{ or } \omicron\iota$	} „ $\hat{\omicron\iota}^2$
\omicron	$\epsilon, \omicron, \text{ or } \omicron\upsilon$

In this Table the attentive student will notice the following general points:—

1. α in combination with any \omicron sound becomes ω .
- α in combination with any other vowel sound becomes α .

¹ Practical Guide to Greek Testament. S. Bagster and Sons.

² Or $\omicron\upsilon$, when the $\epsilon\iota$ is the contraction of $\epsilon\epsilon$, as in the infinitive of verbs contract in \omicron .

2. ϵ in combination with a long vowel or a diphthong is dropped.

ϵ in combination with a short vowel becomes a corresponding diphthong.

3. Any combination of o or ω with α or η always becomes ω .

Any combination of o with ϵ or o becomes ou .

o is dropped before oi or ou .

In contracting a syllable in which ι occurs in combination with a diphthong, first subject the diphthong to the above rules of contraction, and where practicable the ι is then to be subscript, or written beneath. Thus, in $\epsilon\alpha\iota$, the $\epsilon\alpha$ becomes η , and the ι is added, thus, $\eta\iota$.

Should σ occur between two short vowels, it is generally dropped, and the vowels contracted according to rule.

LESSON V.—Accents and Punctuation.

The chief use of Accents is to mark the syllable on which the stress of voice is to be laid in pronunciation. They are not necessary to a study of Greek, and accordingly only a very brief explanation of them is here given.

The accents are three: viz., the Acute, as on $\kappa\alpha\lambda\acute{\eta}$; the Grave, as on $\tauιν\grave{o}s$; and the Circumflex, as on $\deltaοττο\acute{\upsilon}\nu$.

The ACUTE is placed on one of the last three syllables of a word; if the last syllable be short, the acute may stand on the antepenult, as $\acute{\alpha}\nu\theta\rho\omega\pi\omicron\varsigma$; if the last syllable be long, the acute must be on the last, or last but one (penult), as $\acute{\alpha}\nu\theta\rho\acute{\omega}\pi\omicron\upsilon$.¹

The GRAVE is considered to be on every syllable not otherwise accented, but it is never written except on the last syllable, and then only when no punctuation-mark follows. Thus we write καί, ράς, ψυχάς, with an acute on the last syllable, but combined into a sentence we write, καὶ τὰς ψυχὰς εἶδον.

The CIRCUMFLEX is the union of an acute with a grave accent. Thus ἑᾶ, when contracted, becomes ῆ, or commonly ῆ̃; hence this accent is usually found over contracted syllables. It can stand only on one of the last two syllables; and on the penult, only if the final syllable be short. Thus we write, δῶρον, παῖδες; but if the final syllable of such a word be lengthened this circumflex is changed into an acute: hence παῖδες becomes παῖδων, and σῶκον, σέκου.

IN THE INFLEXIONS OF NOUNS

The position of the accent in the nom. sing. must be learned by practice, or from a Lexicon; but when this is known the accent of the oblique cases is easily placed by attention to the following rules:—

- (a) The accent remains throughout the oblique cases on the same syllable on which it stands in the nom., so long as the quantity of the final syllable permits, as τιμή, τιμῇ; ἴστρος, ἱστρῷ.

Except—Genitives and datives of the 2nd decl. (as arranged in this work), take the accent on the inflexion, θήρ, θηρός, θηρῶν, θηροῖ; but acc. θήρα, nom. plur. θήρες. So also syncopated nouns (see Lesson XLVI.), as μήτηρ, μητρός (not μήτρος), θυγάτηρ, θυγατρὸς.

- (b) All genitive and dative inflexions, when long, are accented with the circumflex; as ἀγορά, ἀγορᾶς, ἀγορῇ; τιμαί, τιμῶν, τιμαῖς; the other cases take the acute.
- (c) The gen. plur. of nouns in α, η, ας, or ης, 1st decl., is always circumflexed on the last syllable.

THE ACCENT OF VERBS

Stands as far back as the quantity of the final syllable permits.

Exceptions.

ACTIVE.

1 aor. infin. on penult, λῦσαι
 2 aor. infin. on final, λιπεῖν
 2 aor. part. on final, λιπών
 Perf. infin. on penult, λελυκέναι

MIDDLE.

2 aor. imperat. on final, λιποῦ
 2 aor. infin. on penult, λιπέσθαι

PASSIVE.

Perf. infin. on penult, λελύσθαι
 Perf. part. on penult, λελυμένος.

PROCLITICS.

Certain small words which throw their accent on to the following word, if connected with it; as, οὐ, εἰ, ὥς, ἐν, εἰς, ἐκ, ὅ, ἥ, οἱ, αἱ; as ἐν μάχῃ, εἰς μάχην.

ENCLITICS.

Certain small, unemphatic words, which throw their accent back on to the preceding word, if connected in meaning; as, δοῦλός τις, βασιλεὺς ἐστι. After a penultimate acute, dissyllabic enclitics retain their accent.

There are four marks of Punctuation.

The Comma (,) and the Period (.) are as in English.

The Colon (:) is a point above the line.

The note of Interrogation (;) like our semicolon.

EXERCISE ON ACCENTUATION.

NOTE.—The first twelve exercises (to Lesson XVIII.) have been left unaccented, in order that the student may add the accents himself. When he is sure he has them correct, he can insert them in the book.

In rendering a Greek sentence into English, first seek the nom. case, i.e., the subject of the sentence. If this be not expressed either as a pron. or a noun, the student must supply it, by putting the proper pron. to the verb of the sentence which is required by its termination. Having found the nom. and the verb, next seek the object of the verb, if there be one, which will generally be a noun or pron. in the acc. case; though a few verbs require the dat., and some others take a double object, one direct (acc.), the other indirect (dat.)

EXAMPLE.

Ὁ κύριος τῇ νύμφῃ δῶρον δώσει.

Nom. Ὁ κύριος, The master

Verb. δώσει, will give

Acc. or Direct Object, δῶρον, a gift

Dat. or Indirect Object, τῇ νύμφῃ, to the bride

The master will give a gift to the bride.

The Genitive Case.

τό τοῦ παιδίου βιβλίον } points out his book, as distinguished
The of the child book } from his pen or something else.

τό βιβλίον τοῦ παιδίου } implies that it is the child's book,
The book of the child } and not the man's, or someone else's.

¹ The voc. is always like the nom. in these forms, with this one exception, that when the nom. ends in ας, the voc. ends in ε. So Latin 2nd decl. in us.

² The voc. in this variation of the 1st decl. always ends in α, and is the pure stem of the word.

LESSON XXIV.—The Verb.

The Greek Verb has three VOICES:—

ACTIVE, as, I loosen, or set free, λύω.

MIDDLE, as, I set myself free, λύομαι.

PASSIVE, as, I am being set free, λύομαι.

Each of these voices has three MOODS:—

The INDICATIVE expresses certainty; as, λύω, I set free.

The SUBJUNCTIVE expresses uncertainty; as, λύω, I may set free. The Optative is only a division of the subjunctive.

The IMPERATIVE commands; as, λύε, set thou free.

¹ Things to come.

The INFINITIVE defines nothing, but simply “expresses the action or state denoted by the verb, as in itself an object of thought ;” as, λύειν, to set free. The infinitive partakes of the character of a noun, and hence is often called a Verbal Noun, and is declined with the definite article as a noun ; as, τὸ λύειν, τοῦ λύειν, τῷ λύειν, &c.

PARTICIPLES are Verbal Adjectives, and are declined precisely as other adjectives.

Of nine possible TENSES, the Greek has only seven, as shown in the following table.

	INDEFINITE.	IMPERFECT.	PERFECT.
PRESENT	— I write	Pres. { I am writing	Perf. { I have written
PAST ...	Aor. { I wrote I did write	Imp. { I was writing	Pluper. { I had written
FUTURE	Fut. { I shall write	— { I shall be writing	Fut.- perf. ¹ { I shall have written

Omitting the Future-perfect, which does not occur in the active voice, there are six tenses, which are thus further distinguished :—

PRIMARY TENSES.		HISTORICAL TENSES.
Pres.	as λύω I am loosening	Imperf.	as ἔλυον { I was loosening
Fut.	as λύσω { I shall (will) loosen	Aor.	as ἔλυσα I loosened
Perf.	as ἔλελυκα { I have loosened	Pluperf.	as ἔλελύκειν { I had loosened

¹ Very rare, and only found in Mid. and Pas.

Looking carefully at these six words, we shall notice that they can be analysed as follows:—

	Augment.	Redupli- cation.	Stem.	Tense charac- teristic.	Personal, or Pronominal termina- tion.
Present ...			λυ-		ω
Future ...			λυ-	σ-	ω
Perfect ...		λε-	λυ-	κ-	α
Imperfect .	ε		λυ-		ον
Aorist ...	ε		λυ-	σ-	α
Pluperfect.	ε	λε-	λυ-	κ-	ειν

Here we notice the following points:—

1. The stem λυ- is found throughout all six tenses.
2. The augment ε- is prefixed to the historical tenses.¹
3. The reduplication,² or repetition of the first consonant of the stem with ε, takes place in perfect tenses.³
4. The characteristic of the future and of its corresponding historical tense, is the letter σ affixed to the stem, while that of the perfects is κ.

² It will be an assistance to the student to notice that the peculiarities of the Greek verb have representative peculiarities in other languages, and amongst them in the English. Thus the reduplication of the perfect has its counterpart in the Mæso-Gothic. A trace of it is to be found in the Anglo-Saxon (the parent of modern English), in the word heht, which is considered to be he-ht. In English did=di-d, from do, is considered to be a reduplicate form (Latham's English Language). And perhaps such forms as ydrad=dreaded; yclad=clothed; yclept=called; found in Thomson's "Castle of Indolence," Spenser's "Faery Queen," and in other writings, or imitations of that period; which forms are clearly traceable to the ge of Anglo-Saxon, as in gekommen, geliebt, etc., have something of the reduplicate element in them. And as in compounding Greek verbs with prepositions, the reduplication (and also the augment), is prefixed to the stem after the preposition, as ἀναλύω, ἀναλέλυκα, so also from kommen, ankommen, angekommen. This subject is one which it will repay the student to pursue.

³ Or, when the stem begins with a vowel, by lengthening the vowel.

5. While from the table of personal or pronominal terminations, given below, the attentive student will observe the recurrence of -s in the 2nd pers. sing., and of -μεν, -τε, in the 1st and 2nd pers. plur. The personal endings are probably fragments of ancient personal pronouns affixed to the verb, as though in English the verb were written thus :—

1	Readi	Readwe
2	Readthou	Readye
3	Readhe	Readthey

where read- is the stem, and I, thou, he, we, ye, they, the personal, or pronominal endings.

It will also be seen that in the primary tenses the 3rd plur. ends in -σι (or, before a vowel following in next word, -σιν), and in the historical tenses in -ν.

TABLE OF PERSONAL ENDINGS.

Pres.	-ω	-εις	-ει	-ομεν	-ετε	-ουσι (ν)
Fut.	-σω	-σεις	-σει	-σομεν	-σετε	-σουσι (ν)
Perf.	-κα	-κας	-κε (ν)	-καμεν	-κατε	-κασι (ν)
Imperf.	-ον	-εις	-ει (ν)	-ομεν	-ετε	-ον
Aor.	-σα	-σας	-σε (ν)	-σαμεν	-σατε	-σαν
Pluperf.	-κειν	-κεις	-κει	-κειμεν	-κειτε	-κε(ι)σαν

The terminations of the pres. and fut. and those of the aor. and perf. are identical;¹ the characteristics not being regarded as part of the personal terminations.

Τί λέετε τὸν ὄνον ; οἱ δὲ εἶπον Ὁ Κύριος αὐτοῦ χρεῖαν ἔχει.¹ Καὶ ἔκλεισε τὴν θύραν. Ἐγὼ σεῖω οὐ μόνον τὴν γῆν, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν οὐρανόν. Καὶ ἰδοὺ, φωνὴ ἐκ τῶν οὐρανῶν saying : Οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ Υἱός μου. Ὑμεῖς ἐστε τὸ φῶς τοῦ κόσμου. Τὰς θύρας τῆς φυλακῆς ἔκλεισαν. Οἱ ποτηροὶ τὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ υἱὸν τὸν φίλον τεθύκασι. Τοὺς ἀνθρώπους, οἱ ἔθνη, ἐπαΐσαμεν. Ὁ θάνατος τὴν ψυχὴν λύσει. Τοὺς οὐρανοὺς ἔκλεισα καὶ ἔλυσε τὸν νεκρόν.

² This perfect is a little irregular. Formed after the ordinary plan it would have been κεκάλεκα, this, however, did not sound euphonious to the Greek ear, and therefore the a was dropped, and to compensate for its loss the following e was lengthened into η. This preference of euphony to regularity, and the principle of compensation, will be often noticed by the student of Greek.

³ οὕτως before a consonant.

LESSON XXIX.

There are three main classes of verbal stems : pure, mute, and liquid.

A pure stem ends in a vowel, the uncontracted in ι and υ have been illustrated in Lessons XXIV. to XXVIII. Those in α, ε, ο, suffer contraction in the pres. and imperf. tenses according to the principles laid down in Lesson IV., and we shall now proceed to illustrate them.

LESSON XXXII.

Mute stems may be labial, guttural, or dental. In all tenses therefore where these stems are followed immediately by a consonant, some combination arises according to the principles laid down in Lessons II. and III., which the student is begged to consult at every step. Thus usually:—

Labial stems	π	β	φ	{	form their fut.	in	ψ
				{	„ „ perf.	„	φ
Guttural stems	κ	γ	χ	{	„ „ fut.	„	ξ
				{	„ „ perf.	„	χ
Dental stems	τ	δ	θ	{	„ „ fut.	{ by dropping the dental before the σ of the fut.

ἀστράπτω	ἀστράψω		to lighten βάπτω	βάψω	βέβαφα	I baptize, dip κλέπτω	κλέψω	κέκλοφα	I steal βλέπτω	βλέψω	βέβλεφα	I see, take care πέμπω	πέμψω	πέπομφα	I send
λέγω	λέξω	λέλεχα	I say, tell ἄγω ¹	ἄξω	ἤχα	I bring, lead, drive
ἤκω	ἤξω ²	ἤκα	I come, am here
διώκω	διώξω	δεδίωχα	I hunt, persecute
ἀνοίγω	ἀνοίξω	ἀνέωχα ³	I open (irregular)

² Imperf. ἤκον, no other tenses in use.

³ 1 aor. ἀνέωξα. Notice the way in which the 1 aor. and perf. of ἀνοίγω are formed. The verb is compounded of the negative particle ἀν and the root οἶνω. In all changes of the verb this particle (as also all compounded prepositions etc.) is still left to begin the word, and the augment and reduplication are effected on the root. Thus to augment ἀν-οίγω we lengthen the ο to ω, and then write the iota under (iota-subscript) thus, φ. The irregularity of this verb lies in its doubly augmenting the stem by adding ε to the lengthened vowel, thus making ἀνέωξα, and ἀνέωχα. There is also an alternative 1 aor. ἤνοιξα, which is regularly formed from ἀνοίξω as if it were an uncompounded stem.

Καὶ λάμπει πᾶσι τοῖς ἐν τῇ οἰκίᾳ. Οὕτω λαμψάτω τὸ φῶς (light) ὑμῶν ἔμπροσθεν τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ὅπως ἴδωσιν ὑμῶν τὰ καλὰ ἔργα, καὶ δοξάσωσι τὸν πατέρα (acc. s. of πατήρ) ὑμῶν τὸν ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς. Ὡςπερ γὰρ ἡ ἀστραπή (lightning) ἡ ἀστράπτουσα (which lightneth) ἐκ τῆς ὑπ' οὐρανὸν εἰς τὴν ὑπ' οὐρανὸν λάμπει, οὕτως ἔσται ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ αὐτοῦ. Καὶ αὐτὸς φωνήσας εἶπε· Πάτερ Ἀβραὰμ, have mercy ἐπὶ με, καὶ πέμψον Δάζαρον, ἵνα βάλῃ τὸ ἄκρον τοῦ δακτύλου αὐτοῦ in water, καὶ cool τὴν γλῶσσάν μου. Κέλευσον οὖν be made sure τὸν τάφον ἕως τῆς τρίτης ἡμέρας ἵνα μὴ they coming κλέψωσιν αὐτὸν, καὶ εἰπωσι τοῖς δούλοις αὐτοῦ· He is risen ἀπὸ τῶν νεκρῶν καὶ ἔσται ἡ ἐσχάτη πλάνη¹ worse τῆς πρώτης. Μὴ κλέψῃς. Ἄ ἀκούετε καὶ βλέπετε. Βλέπω τοὺς ἀνθρώπους ὡς δένδρα. Εἶπε δὲ ὁ κύριος· Τί ποιήσω; πέμψω τὸν υἱόν μου. Ἔλεγον οὖν· Τοῦτο τί ἐστίν ὃ λέγει, τὸ μικρόν; οὐκ οἶδαμεν τί λαλεῖ. Ἄγουσιν αὐτὸν πρὸς τοὺς Φαρισαίους. Ἦξει ὁ κύριος τοῦ δούλου ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ ταύτῃ. Ὁ δὲ εἶπεν αὐτῷ· Ὅτι ὁ ἀδελφός σου ἦκει· καὶ ἔθυσεν ὁ πατήρ σου τὸν μόσχον. Ἦκουσε φωνὴν λέγουσαν (saying) αὐτῷ· Σαοὺλ, Σαοὺλ, τί με διώκεις; Εἶπε δὲ· Τίς εἶ, Κύριε; Ὁ δὲ Κύριος εἶπεν· Ἐγὼ εἰμι Ἰησοῦς ὃν σὺ διώκεις. Καὶ ἀνοίξας τὸ στόμα αὐτοῦ. Κύριε, Κύριε, ἀνοίξον ἡμῖν. Ἦν δὲ σάββατον, ὅτε τὸν πηλὸν ἐποίησεν ὁ Ἰησοῦς, καὶ ἀνέψαεν αὐτοῦ τοὺς ὀφθαλμούς.

LESSON XXXIII.

Many verbs of this class have a modified stem in the pres. tense, thus :—

LABIAL STEMS by the introduction of -τ- before the termination : as stem τυπ-, pres. τύπ-τ-ω ; stem βλαβ-, pres. βλάπτω ; stem ρίφ, pres. ρίπτω.

GUTTURAL STEMS by changing the stem ending into -σσ-, or its equivalent -ττ- : as, τάσσω, or τάττω from ταγ- ; or, into ζ : as κράζω, from κραγ-.

DENTAL STEMS by changing the stem ending into ζ: as φράζω, from φραδ-.

In such cases the fut., perf., etc., are formed from the unmodified stem; as:—

τύπτω to strike	τυπ-	fut. τύψω	perf. τέτυφα
βλάπτω to hurt	βλαβ-	„ βλάψω	„ βέβλαφα
ρίπτω to throw	ρίφ-	„ ρίψω	„ ἔρριφα ¹
τάσσω to arrange	ταγ-	„ τάξω	„ τέταχα
κράζω to cry	κραγ-	„ κράξω	„ κέκραχα
φράζω to tell	φραδ-	„ φράσω	„ πέφρακα ²

Verbs of this class usually have a set of secondary tenses in which the unmodified stem appears, though a few unmodified verbs have also a 2 aor. The secondary tenses have a meaning similar to the primary ones. The terminations of the 2 aor. are the same as those of the imperf.

Thus the 2 aor. of the preceding verbs will be ἔ-τυπ-ον, ἔ-βλαβ-ον, ἔρ-ρίφ-ον, ἔ-ταγ-ον, ἔ-κραγ-ον, ἔ-φραδ-ον.

γράφω	γράφω	γέγραφα	2 aor. ἔγραπον	I write κόπτω	κόψω	κέκοφα	„ ἔκοπον	I knock, beat τρέπω	τρέψω	τέτροφα	„ ἔτραπον	I turn λείπω	λείψω	λέλειφα	„ ἔλιπον	I leave, fail κρύπτω	κρύψω	κέκρυφα	„ ἔκρυβον	I hide, cover φεύγω			„ ἔφυγον	I flee
ἔχω ³	{ ἔξω and σχῆσω	ἔσχηκα	„ ἔσχον	{ I have, possess φημί, I say; 2 aor. ἔφην.

*Ἐλεγον οὖν τῷ Πιλάτῳ οἱ chief priests τῶν Ἰουδαίων· Μὴ γράφε· Ὁ βασιλεὺς τῶν Ἰουδαίων· ἀλλ' ὅτι ἐκεῖνος εἶπε· Βασιλεὺς εἰμι τῶν Ἰουδαίων. Answered ὁ Πιλάτος· Ὁ γέγραφα, γέγραφα. Ταῦτα ἔγραψα ὑμῖν. Ἐν τῇ καρδίᾳ ἔκρυψα τὸν λόγον σου. Ἐφυγον οἱ ἄνθρωποι καὶ εἶπον αὐτὸ ἐν τῇ ἀγορᾷ. Ὁ ἄγγελος

¹ Note the peculiarity of this reduplication when the stem begins with ρ.

² S. G. Green.

³ Has two stems εχ- and σχη-, each defective alone, but combining to make a complete set of tenses. Compare Go and Went in English.

τοῦ Κυρίου τὴν θύραν τῆς φυλακῆς ἤνοιξε. Ταῦτα εἰς βιβλίον γράφατε. Ὁ βλέπεις γράψον εἰς βιβλίον καὶ πέμψον ταῖς ἐκκλησίαις ταῖς ἐν Ἀσίᾳ. Καὶ τρέψα βλέπειν τὴν φωνὴν ἣ ἐλάλησε μετ' ἐμοῦ· καὶ τρέψας εἶδον ἑπτὰ λυχνίας χρυσᾶς· καὶ ἐν μέσῳ τῶν ἑπτὰ λυχνίων ὁμοιον υἱῷ ἀνθρώπου. Εἰπὲ ἡμῖν πότε ταῦτα ἔσται;¹ Ἰδετε τὸν τόπον. Ἦκουσεν ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὅτι they had cast him out, and finding him εἶπεν αὐτῷ· Σὺ πιστεύεις εἰς τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ; Answered ἐκεῖνος, καὶ εἶπε· Τίς ἐστι, Κύριε, ἵνα πιστεύσω εἰς αὐτόν; Εἶπε δὲ αὐτῷ ὁ Ἰησοῦς· Καὶ thou hast seen αὐτόν, καὶ ὁ λαλῶν μετὰ σοῦ, ἐκεῖνός ἐστιν. Ὁ δὲ ἔφη· Πιστεύω, Κύριε!

LESSON XXXV.

Liquid stems are generally modified in the pres. tense.

The fut. act. originally ended in -εω, but the σ being dropped (see Lesson IV.), the vowels thus coming together were contracted according to rule, thus leaving the fut. in -ᾶ.

The fut. act. of liquid verbs is therefore like the pres. of contracted pure verbs, with stem ending ε- (see Lesson XXIX.)

The 1 aor. follows the fut. in omitting σ, but lengthens the vowel of the preceding syllable ; thus :—

φαν-	pres. φαίνω	fut. φανῶ	1 aor. ἔφηνα
ἀγγελ-	„ ἀγγέλλω	„ ἀγγεῶ	„ ἤγγειλα
κριν-	„ κρίνω	„ κρινῶ	„ ἔκρινα
συρ-	„ σύρω	„ συρῶ	„ ἔσυρα
αἶρ-	„ αἶρω	„ ἀρῶ	„ ἤρα

In the perf. act. as ν cannot stand before κ, various expedients are adopted. Some verbs drop the ν, as κρίνω, κέκρικα ; others adopt a 2nd perf. with the aor. stem, as φαίνω, πέφηνα ; and lastly, others form the perf. as from a pure root in ε-, as μένω, to remain, μεμένηκα, as if from μενέω.

LESSON XXXVI.—Prepositions.

Many prepositions have already been introduced; but it is of great importance that the student should have correct ideas of the primary force of the Greek prepositions: they express "local geometrical relation." If we analyse the geometrical parts of these three ideas,—the line, the superficies, and the solid—we shall obtain an exact mathematical analysis and enumeration of the Greek prepositions, the use of which in the New Testament especially is marked by the most wonderful precision, although "such frightful laxity has been indulged and recommended, even by professors of the language."

A CUBE has six geometrical parts :—

The upper plane	is	ὑπέρ
The under plane	„	ὑπό
The front	„	ἀντί
The side	„	παρά
Both sides (together, i.e. , partly round)	„	ἀμφί
The rear (out of sight)	„	ὀπισθεν

Of the SUPERFICIES :—

The plane	is	ἐπί
The boundary line around it	„	περί
Within that line	„	ἐν
Without that line	„	ἐκ
An intersecting line, dividing the surface into two	} „	διά

Lines are either vertical or horizontal.

Of VERTICAL lines :—

The top is ἀνά | The bottom is κατὰ

Of HORIZONTAL lines :—

The front is πρό. The hinder extremity (as in the case of the solid) has no special name, but is indicated by ἐπί or ὑπό.

A line being composed of three parts, two extremities and the middle : the middle is of three kinds :—

1. When of the same substance with the extremities, as the middle of a beam, μερά.
2. When of a different substance, as a rope connecting two trees, σύν.
3. When it is an empty space, as in drawing a line from our eye to a star, the relation between them is indicated by ἀπό.

“Add the particle of motion σε to πρό, it becomes πρὸς, towards, to the front of an object; add it to ἐν or ἐν, it becomes εἰς, into. Here are all the prepositions.¹”

LESSON XXXVII.

The secondary meanings of prepositions can with a little thought and care be traced in most cases up to their primaries. Let the student give them, in reading the New Testament, their primary force; and then, catching the idea sought to be conveyed, dress it in suitable idiomatic English, and he will arrive at the secondary meanings with comparative facility.

¹ The ideas illustrated in this and the following Lesson have been obtained from a remarkable article in The Quarterly Review for January, 1863; and the quotations are also taken from the same source.

"Prepositions do not govern cases; that is, determine them. That which determines the case is the idea which it is wanted to express, according to the view we have given of them. The preposition only adds a more precise geometrical view of the relation in which the two objects stand to each other.

"The genitive, dative, and accusative—all of them, as distinguished from the nominative—denote the second of two nouns placed in some relation to each other.

"The ACCUSATIVE is employed to express length in duration of time, as, 'all night long,' νύκτα; and extension of space, as, 'he walked along the river,' ποταμόν; the subject of the action, as, 'he killed the man,' ἄνδρα; the thing made or done, as, ποιήσωμεν σκηνάς, 'let us make tents;' the place to which direct motion is addressed, as, εἰσῆλθεν εἰς κώμην, 'he entered into a village;' the object contemplated, as, ὀμνύειν τινά, to swear, looking at a person; κόπτεσθαι τινα, 'to cut yourself in sorrow, contemplating a person as dead;' and the passive cause, as, φοβεῖσθαι τινα, to be alarmed at a person doing nothing, whereas, if he were actively terrifying us, it would be τινος.

"The GENITIVE denotes relationship in general, every kind of it. Construe it 'in relation to,' 'in regard to,' 'in reference to,' 'concerning,' 'in connexion with,' and its precise meaning will always be recognised.

"The DATIVE also expresses the second term of a relation (this is, of two nouns standing in relation to each other), but with the additional notion always of an interval lying between the two objects. Hence it is rendered by the English prepositions 'to,' 'with,' 'in,' 'for,' 'at,' with an interval, or 'near;' and sometimes 'from,' where something is taken from a person. In each of these instances there must be an interval supposed to exist between the objects."¹

To assist the student we append a list of the significations commonly pertaining to the prepositions when used with the different cases. Some are used with an acc. only; some with a gen., or a dat. only; some are used with two cases, and some with three ; but the following table will make all clear.

Some of the prepositions mentioned in this list are found only in composition, i.e., compounded with some verb, or are used in the New Testament very rarely.

ὁ λύων the (man) loosing = he who looses τοῦ λύοντος *of him who looses ; as, or, when he was loosing*¹ τῷ λύοντι to him who is loosing = to him who looses

Οὐκ ἀνέγνωτε τί ἐποίησε Δαυὶδ, ὅτε he was an hungred καὶ οἱ μετ' αὐτοῦ; Ἐν τῷ νόμῳ τί γέγραπται; πῶς ἀναγινώσκεis; Ὁ Φίλιππος ἤκουσεν αὐτοῦ ἀναγινώσκοντος τὸν προφήτην Ἡσαΐαν, καὶ εἶπεν· Ἀρά γε γινώσκεis ἢ ἀναγινώσκεis; Γνοὺς δὲ ὁ Ἰησοῦς εἶπεν. Κύριε, ἔγνων σε. Οὐκ ἔγνων Ἰωσήφ. Ἀλλ' ἔγνωκα ὑμᾶς, ὅτι τὴν ἀγάπην τοῦ Θεοῦ οὐκ ἔχετε ἐν ἑαυτοῖς. Διδάσκων ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, καὶ οὐκ ἐκρατήσατέ με. Διδάσκοντες αὐτοὺς. Ὁ ζητῶν εὕρισκει. Ὁ εὔρων τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ ἀπολέσει (shall lose) αὐτήν. Μάθετε ἀπ' ἐμοῦ. Μαθὼν ὅτι Ῥωμαῖός ἐστι. Καὶ ὁ λόγος ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν. Διὰ τοῦτο rejoice οἱ οὐρανοὶ καὶ οἱ ἐν αὐτοῖς σκηνοῦντες. Ἀλευφαί σου τὴν κεφαλὴν. Ἀλεύφωσιν αὐτόν. Ὁ δὲ Ἰησοῦς τῷ δακτύλῳ ἔγραφεν εἰς τὴν γῆν. Ἔστω ὑμῶν διάκονος. Ὁ καταλύων τὸν ναόν. Καὶ ἀπολύσας τοὺς multitudes, ἀνέβη εἰς τὸ ὄρος. Ὁ πιστεύων εἰς τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ, ἔχει τὴν μαρτυρίαν (witness) ἐν ἑαυτῷ· ὁ μὴ πιστεύων τῷ Θεῷ, ψεύστην πεποίηκεν αὐτὸν, ὅτι οὐ πεπίστευκεν εἰς τὴν μαρτυρίαν, ἣν μεμαρτύρηκεν (μαρτυρέω) ὁ Θεὸς περὶ τοῦ υἱοῦ αὐτοῦ, καὶ αὕτη ἐστὶν ἡ μαρτυρία ὅτι ζωὴν αἰώνιον ἔδωκεν (1 aor. διδωμι) ἡμῖν ὁ Θεός· καὶ αὕτη ἡ ζωὴ ἐν τῷ υἱῷ αὐτοῦ ἐστίν. Ὁ ἔχων τὸν υἱόν, ἔχει τὴν ζωὴν· ὁ μὴ ἔχων τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ, τὴν ζωὴν οὐκ ἔχει.

¹ 2 aor. ἔγν-ων, -ως, -ω, etc.; imperat. γνώθι; infin. γινῶναι; part. γνοὺς. The tenses of γινώσκω are taken from the unused γνώω, and instead of fut. γνώσω is used the middle form γινώσσομαι.

LESSON XLIII.

Most works on Greek commonly make two declensions of the one already given, but the plan herein pursued is believed to be the simpler. Accordingly the second declension herein will be that commonly known as the third.

THE SECOND DECLENSION

differs from the first, in that the terminations of its cases are added to the stem, thus making an extra syllable.

In the first declension the nom. case sing. exhibits the pure stem; while in the second this stem is generally modified in the nom. sing., and is found pure in the gen. after taking away the case ending.

Nouns of this declension are declined on the model of

The Indefinite Pronoun.

τίς (stem τιν-) *any, a certain, a; or, who? what? which?*¹

Nom.	τίς	τί	Nom.	τινές	τινά
Acc.	τινά		Acc.	τινάς
Gen.	τινός		Gen.	τινῶν
Dat.	τινί		Dat.	τισί

¹ Note on Accent.—When interrogative the i of the stem is accented throughout, the dissyllabic forms being paroxytone. Of τίς indefinite all the forms are enclitic.

Notice here that as the letter ν , in which the stem terminates, can stand only before dentals (Lesson III., 8), it is dropped in the nom. sing. before the σ , which is the usual termination added to the stem in this case; so that $\tau\nu\varsigma$ becomes $\tau\iota\varsigma$.

The nom. plur. adds $-\epsilon\varsigma$.

The acc. sing. adds $-α$, which is really only a substitute for ν ; which termination actually appears in some pure stems of this declension, as will presently be seen.

The acc. plur. adds $-α\varsigma$. The student will not fail to notice the similarity in the acc. endings of this declension and those of the first.

The Gen. Sing. adds $-ο\varsigma$ (note $-\eta\varsigma$ and $-α\varsigma$ of the first.)

„ „ Plur. „ $-ων$ as in the first declension.

„ Dat. Sing. „ $-ι$ always traceable in the first.

„ „ Plur. „ $-\sigmaι$ { with necessary modifications; note the terminal $-αι\varsigma$, $-οι\varsigma$, of the first.

The nom. and acc., sing. neut., generally drop the last letter of the stem, but in the plur. are regularly formed.

$\tau\iota\varsigma$, as has been seen, is both interrogative and indefinite; the transition from the former to the latter can easily be traced. It comes to almost the same thing whether we say, “What man is there among you who will give?” etc.; or, “Is there any man among you?” etc. The only difference between the forms of the two is in the accent and the position in the sentence.¹

Stems ending in ν and ντ (generally), in ρ (almost always), and in ς (invariably, except in neuters), form the nom. by lengthening the vowel preceding the termination,¹ as :—

LESSON XLVII.

Stems in av, ev, ov, add s in the nom., but drop the v in all other cases but the dat. plur., thus forming an apparent exception to the rule that, by taking away the gen. ending -os, the stem would appear.

There was an old consonant f, pronounced v, and called Digamma, of which the v in these terminations is the trace. It has been dropped in all cases except the nom. sing. and dat. plur., because by retaining it the combination of vowels so resulting would be impracticable. Thus :—stem βοf- gives nom. βοfs = βοῦς ; gen. βοφος = βονος = βοός ; and stem βασιλεf- gives nom. βασιλεfs = βασιλεύς ; gen. βασιλεφος = βασιλενος = βασιλέως, where the o is lengthened into ω by way of compensation for the lost v (see Lesson XXVI., note).

In Lesson XLIII. it was stated that most neuter nouns of this declension form the nom. by dropping the last letter of the stem, as :—

LESSON LIII.

On the Secondary Tenses.

(Lesson XXXIII.)

In the two preceding Tables seven secondary tenses will be seen; in the first, on the top line to the right; in the second, at the foot of the Table.

The 2 aor. act. and mid. follows the imperf. in its terminations, and has the stem unmodified.

The 2 aor. pass. follows the 1 aor. pass. in its terminations, and has the stem unmodified.

The 2 fut. pass. is connected with the 2 aor. just as the 1 fut. is with the 1 aor., thus:—

As we have 1 aor. pass. ἐτύφθην from 1 fut. pass. τυφθήσομαι
So we have 2 aor. pass. ἐτύπην „ 2 fut. pass. τυπήσομαι

The 2 perf. belongs to the act. voice only. It is of rare occurrence; τέτυφα, τέτυπα.

General Rules for the Second Tenses.¹

1. These do not occur in the pure verbs, or in verbs having a dental, τ, δ, θ, (ζ), for their characteristic.
2. The same verb very seldom takes both 1 and 2 aor. in the act. and mid.
3. The pass. may have both 1 and 2 aor. and fut.
4. When both 1 and 2 perf. act. are found, the former is often transitive, the latter intransitive. ἔτεραξα, I have done; ἔτεράσα, I have fared (compare English, "How do you do?")

LESSON LIV.

Passive and Middle Voices.

In Lesson XXIV. it was pointed out that the verb has three voices, Active, Middle, and Passive. The Active voice having been considered rather at length, inasmuch as it is the basis of the whole verb, we shall now examine the features of the two remaining voices together, as they have most features in common; and where they differ contrast will be the most useful means of assisting memory.

The normal forms of the terminations of the primary tenses in the pass. and mid. voices are, -μαι, -σαι, -ται, -μεθα, -σθε, -νται; and of the historical tenses, -μην, -σο, -το, -μεθα, -σθε, -ντο; found in this exact form in the perf. and pluperf. tenses of the indic. respectively, but modified more or less in all other tenses.

The pass. and mid. are alike in form in all tenses except the fut. and 1 aor.

In these two tenses the pass. will always be distinguished by the introduction of θ, or θη, between the stem and the tense-ending.

As many adjectives in English become adverbs by the addition of the termination -ly, as bad, badly; swift, swiftly, etc., so in Greek by the addition of -ως to the stem, many adjectives become adverbs. LESSON LXII.

The Second Conjugation in -μι.

In this conjugation there are two classes of verbs :

1. Those that lengthen the stem with (generally) a preceding reduplication, and
2. Those that insert -νν-, or -ννν-, between the stem and the personal endings.

The vowel preferred in the reduplication in class 1 is ι; thus, from stems δο-, θε-, στα-, we have δί-δω-μι, τί-θη-μι, ἴ-στη-μι; there are, however, a few irregularities from this form.

Of class 2, from stems δεικ- and στρο-, we get δείκ-νυ-μι and στρώ-ννυ-μι.

The only tenses in which this conjugation differs from the first are the pres., imperf., and 2 aor.; all others are formed after the model already given.

The lengthening of the stem-vowel of class 1 is generally confined to the singular only.

Καὶ ἤκουσα ὡς φωνὴν ὄχλου πολλοῦ, καὶ ὡς φωνὴν ὑδάτων πολλῶν, καὶ ὡς φωνὴν βροντῶν ἰσχυρῶν, λέγοντες· Ἀλληλουῖα, ὅτι ἐβασίλευσε Κύριος ὁ Θεὸς ἡμῶν ὁ παντοκράτωρ. Χαίρωμεν καὶ ἀγαλλιώμεθα, καὶ δώμεν τὴν δόξαν αὐτῷ· ὅτι ἦλθεν ὁ γάμος τοῦ ἀρνίου, καὶ ἡ γυνὴ αὐτοῦ ἡτοίμασεν ἑαυτήν. Καὶ ἐδόθη αὐτῇ ἵνα περιβάλληται βύσσινον λαμπρὸν καὶ καθαρὸν· τὸ γὰρ βύσσινον, τὰ δικαιώματά ἐστι τῶν ἁγίων. Καὶ λέγει μοι· Γράψον· Μακάριοι οἱ εἰς τὸ δεῖπνον τοῦ γάμου τοῦ ἀρνίου κεκλημένοι. Καὶ λέγει μοι· Οὗτοι οἱ λόγοι ἀληθινοὶ εἰσι τοῦ Θεοῦ. Καὶ ἔπесον ἔμπροσθεν τῶν ποδῶν αὐτοῦ προσκυνῆσαι αὐτῷ· καὶ λέγει μοι· Ὅρα μὴ· σύνδουλός σου εἰμὶ καὶ τῶν ἀδελφῶν σου τῶν ἐχόντων τὴν μαρτυρίαν τοῦ Ἰησοῦ· τῷ Θεῷ προσκύνησον· ἡ γὰρ μαρτυρία τοῦ Ἰησοῦ ἐστι τὸ πνεῦμα τῆς προφητείας. Re. xix. 6-10.

Καὶ ἔδειξέ μοι ποταμὸν ὕδατος ζωῆς, λαμπρὸν ὡς κρύσταλλον, ἔκπορευόμενον ἐκ τοῦ θρόνου τοῦ Θεοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἀρνίου. Ἐν μέσῳ τῆς πλατείας αὐτῆς, καὶ τοῦ ποταμοῦ, ἐντεῦθεν καὶ ἐντεῦθεν, ξύλον ζωῆς, ποιοῦν καρποὺς δώδεκα, κατὰ μῆνα ἕκαστον ἀποδιδόν τὸν καρπὸν αὐτοῦ· καὶ τὰ φύλλα τοῦ ξύλου εἰς θεραπείαν τῶν ἐθνῶν. Καὶ πᾶν κατάθεμα οὐκ ἔσται ἔτι· καὶ ὁ θρόνος τοῦ Θεοῦ καὶ τοῦ ἀρνίου ἐν αὐτῇ ἔσται· καὶ οἱ δοῦλοι αὐτοῦ λατρεύσουσιν αὐτῷ· καὶ ὄψονται τὸ πρόσωπον αὐτοῦ, καὶ τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ ἐπὶ τῶν μετώπων αὐτῶν. Καὶ νύξ οὐκ ἔσται ἔτι· καὶ οὐ χρειά λύχνου καὶ φωτὸς ἡλίου, ὅτι Κύριος ὁ Θεὸς φωτιεῖ ἐπ' αὐτούς· καὶ βασιλεύσουσιν εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας τῶν αἰώνων. Re. xxii. 1-5.

Ἐγὼ τὸ Α καὶ τὸ Ω, ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ ἔσχατος, ἡ ἀρχὴ καὶ τὸ τέλος. Μακάριοι οἱ πλύνοντες τὰς στολὰς αὐτῶν,¹ ἵνα ἔσται ἡ ἐξουσία αὐτῶν ἐπὶ τὸ ξύλον τῆς ζωῆς, καὶ τοῖς πυλῶσιν εἰσέλθωσιν εἰς τὴν πόλιν. Re. xxii. 13, 14.

ΙΩΑΝΝΟΥ ΕΠΙΣΤΟΛΗ ΤΡΙΤΗ.

Ὁ πρεσβύτερος Γαίῳ τῷ ἀγαπητῷ, ὃν ἐγὼ ἀγαπῶ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ. Ἀγαπητέ, περὶ πάντων εὐχομαί σε εὐδοῦσθαι καὶ ὑγιαίνειν, καθὼς εὐδοοῦταί σου ἡ ψυχὴ. Ἐχάρην γὰρ λίαν, ἐρχομένων ἀδελφῶν καὶ μαρτυρούντων σου τῇ ἀληθείᾳ, καθὼς σὺ ἐν ἀληθείᾳ περιπατεῖς. Μειζοτέραν τούτων οὐκ ἔχω χαρὰν, ἵνα ἀκούω τὰ ἐμὰ τέκνα ἐν ἀληθείᾳ περιπατοῦντα. Ἀγαπητέ, πιστὸν ποιεῖς ὃ ἐὰν ἐργάσῃ εἰς τοὺς ἀδελφούς καὶ εἰς τοὺς ξένους, οἱ ἐμαρτύρησάν σου τῇ ἀγάπῃ ἐνώπιον ἐκκλησίας· οὓς καλῶς ποιήσεις προπέμψας ἀξίως τοῦ Θεοῦ. Ὑπὲρ γὰρ τοῦ ὀνόματος ἐξῆλθον μηδὲν λαμβάνοντες ἀπὸ τῶν ἐθνῶν. Ἡμεῖς οὖν ὀφείλομεν ἀπολαμβάνειν τοὺς τοιούτους, ἵνα συνεργοὶ γινώμεθα τῇ ἀληθείᾳ. Ἐγραψα τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ· ἀλλ' ὁ φιλοπρωτεύων αὐτῶν Διοτρεφὴς οὐκ ἐπιδέχεται ἡμᾶς. Διὰ τοῦτο, ἐὰν ἔλθω, ὑπομνήσω αὐτοῦ τὰ ἔργα ἃ ποιεῖ, λόγοις πονηροῖς φλυαρῶν ἡμᾶς· καὶ μὴ ἀρκούμενος ἐπὶ τούτοις, οὔτε αὐτὸς ἐπιδέχεται τοὺς ἀδελφούς, καὶ τοὺς βουλομένους κωλύει, καὶ ἐκ τῆς ἐκκλησίας ἐκβάλλει. Ἀγαπητέ, μὴ μιμοῦ τὸ κακὸν, ἀλλὰ τὸ ἀγαθόν. Ὁ ἀγαθοποιῶν, ἐκ τοῦ Θεοῦ ἐστίν· ὁ κακοποιῶν, οὐχ ἑώρακε τὸν Θεόν. Δημητρίῳ μεμαρτύρηται ὑπὸ πάντων, καὶ ὑπ' αὐτῆς τῆς ἀληθείας· καὶ ἡμεῖς δὲ μαρτυροῦμεν, καὶ οἴδατε ὅτι ἡ μαρτυρία ἡμῶν ἀληθὴς ἐστι. Πολλὰ εἶχον γράφειν, ἀλλ' οὐ θέλω διὰ μέλανος καὶ καλάμου σοι γράψαι· ἐλπίζω δὲ εὐθέως ἰδεῖν σε, καὶ στόμα πρὸς στόμα λαλήσομεν. Εἰρήνῃ σοι. Ἀσπάζονται σε οἱ φίλοι. Ἀσπάζου τοὺς φίλους κατ' ὄνομα.

THE SYNONYMS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

The following list of synonyms has been compiled from Dr. Henry Tittmann's admirable work on the subject ; and, though incomplete, will present the student with a few of the most important. Many others can be found, the attentive consideration of which cannot but be of great value as regards an intelligent understanding of the New Testament writings.

ἀγαθός δίκαιος

In ἀγαθός the notion of benefit and utility prevails ; in δίκαιος that of just, right, and equitable.

ἅγιος ἄγνός ὁσιος ἱερός ἀμίαντος καθαρός

All these words agree in denoting purity of mind, blamelessness, and integrity of spirit. But ἅγιος is holy ; ἄγνός is chaste, clean, sinless ; ὁσιος is pious ; ἱερός is sacred, or consecrated ; ἀμίαντος is the cause of καθαρός, i.e., freedom from impurity ; καθαρός is pure, immaculate.

ἀκέραιος ἅπλους ἄκακος

Each denotes a certain simplicity of mind ; while more particularly, ἀκέραιος is unmixed with evil, blameless ; ἅπλους is free from all duplicity, open, sincere ; ἄκακος is free from all evil suspicion, ingenuous.

ἄμεμπτος ἄμωμος (ἀνεπίληπτος ἀνέγκλητος)

Express, generally, freedom from blame ; while he is ἄμεμπτος in whom nothing is yet accounted wanting ; ἄμωμος, in whom there is nothing reprehensible. The two words enclosed in brackets are of cognate signification : he is ἀνέγκλητος who is not accused, nor can properly be accused by any one ; and ἀνεπίληπτος implies one in whom exists no just cause of blame. If the two former are but few, the two latter are fewer still.

ἄχρι μέχρι

Ἄχρι denotes, not the end, but the duration, or the whole period of time, in which the thing in question continues; but μέχρι designates the end at which it ceases to be, unless some word be added, by the force of which the notion of a termination or close is removed, as μέχρι παντός.

αἰδῖος αἰώνιος

Agree, inasmuch as they denote a long continuance of time, even eternity. But αἰδῖος implies an existence in all time past, and which has yet no end; while αἰώνιος denotes that of which no end is conceived.

αἰών χρόνος ὥρα καιρός

Agree in so far as that all of them carry a common notion of a time in which something is conceived to be, or to have been, done. But they differ as thus:—

Have all a common general notion of sin.

1. The first three of these are still further united by the common notion of vice or fault which brings blame or injury. More particularly, ἁμαρτία denotes the innate vice from which the ἀμάρτημα springs, a consenting will is implied, whether deceived, or of malice prepense; while παράπτωμα carries the notion of sin rashly committed by one unwilling to do a wrong.

2. ἀνομία is that which is contrary to LAW, lawlessness; ἀδικία, that which is contrary to RIGHT, unrighteousness; and ἀδίκημα, that which issues from ἀδικία.

ἀγαπᾶν φιλεῖν

Ἀγαπᾶν is to regard (amare); φιλεῖν is to love (diligere), properly, to kiss. While the former never means to kiss, the latter never means to acquiesce, or cherish with reverence. In the New Testament men are never said φιλεῖν τὸν Θεόν, but ἀγαπᾶν; while God is said both φιλεῖν and ἀγαπᾶν τοὺς ἀνθρώπους.

ἀγαθοεργεῖν ἀγαθοποιεῖν

The former is to do WELL (bene agere); the latter, to do GOOD (bene facere).

ἐλκύειν (ἔλκειν) σύρειν

Ἐλκύειν denotes a certain drawing (trahere), tending to a particular point, to attract, beguile; while σύρειν is used of those things continuously and uninterruptedly drawn (drag after): σύρειν is never used metaphorically, as is ἐλκύειν.

καινός νέος

Agree in that both are opposed to παλαιός. But in παλαιός are two distinct ideas, (1) that which was originated some time back; and (2) that which has existed long and been in use. To (1) νέος is opposed, it is that which has only lately been originated, recent; while to (2) καινός is opposed, as that which replaces something that was formerly, i.e., new.

ἡρεμος ἡσύχιος

Agree in this, that in neither is there anything of tumult, perturbation, agitation, or solicitude. But, he is ἡσύχιος who makes no disturbance ; while he is ἡρεμος who is himself free from agitation, or disturbance.

μάχεσθαι πολεμεῖν μάχαι πόλεμοι

Denote contest, contention, fighting. But, πόλεμος and πολεμεῖν are restricted to actual collision by physical force ; μάχη and μάχεσθαι apply to any contention of mind as well as body, even though it come not to blows.

σύμψυχοι τὸ αὐτὸ (τὸ ἐν φρονοῦντες)

Σύμψυχον εἶναι is to think the same thing, to be of accordant mind ; τὸ αὐτὸ φρονεῖν is to have the same mind ; τὸ ἐν φρονεῖν is not to differ in counsel and purpose, but to seek one and the same object.

σπλάγχνα οἰκτιρμοί

The former denotes some vehement affection or regard, as of parents towards children ; the latter, mercy, a sense of grief for the distresses of others.

ἔλεος οἰκτιρμός ἐλεεῖν οἰκτεῖρειν

Οἰκτιρμός and οἰκτεῖρειν denote merely compassion, a sense of unhappiness for the ills of others ; but ἔλεος and ἐλεεῖν denote the desire of relieving the miserable, beneficence.

ψιθυρισταί καταλάλοι

Both signify a calumniator. But the former is he who spreads calumny secretly, and whispers it in the ear ; while the latter is he who slanders openly.

ἀλαζόνες ὑπερήφανοι (ὑβρισταί)

Ἀλαζών is a vain-glorious boaster; ὑπερήφανος, he who prides himself on the things in which he excels, or thinks that he excels: the one is arrogance, the other pride. The ὑβρισταί differ from both; these are the insolent, who from pride not only treat others with contempt, but with contumely and injury. To these words may be added

αὐθάδης

Which signifies that viciousness of life which arises from that self-satisfaction that can approve of nothing but the doings of self.

ἀσύνθετοι ἄσπονδοι

The latter are they who will not make peace, but prefer interminable war; while the former do nothing to preserve peace.

(ἀμαθεῖς) ἀστήρικτοι ἀσθενεῖς ἄρρωστοι

The first two of these words are only synonymous as used in 2 Pe. iii. 16. The ἀμαθεῖς are those who have not learned that which they might and ought to have learned, not having had proper instruction, untutored; the ἀστήρικτοι are they, who having learned, have however not been adequately taught and confirmed, and who still need definite religious knowledge. The ἀσθενεῖς have no strength, infirm, imbecile; they are ἄρρωστοι the strength of whose powers has failed; languid, sick.

λαλεῖν λέγειν εἰπεῖν ἐρεῖν

Λαλεῖν (loqui) is to speak, i.e., to utter words of any language independently of any reason why they are uttered, as of a parrot speaking; it implies simply the use of human voice and words. The next two are nearly allied: λέγειν has reference to the sentiment and the connexion of words, to say; while εἰπεῖν relates only to the words which any one has successively spoken; and ἔρεῖν is to express thought, and so is directly opposed to λαλεῖν.

νέφος νεφέλη

The former denotes cloud, indefinitely; the latter, specific clouds, which, breaking from the mass, roll together in a certain form.

διατάσσειν διαστέλλεσθαι

The former is so to dispose matters that each is in its own place, to put in order, to arrange; the latter is so to separate that nothing should be in a wrong place or mode.

ἀμετάθετος ἀπαράβατος βέβαιος

The first is that which does not pass away, or migrate; the second, that which is not changed; while βέβαιος is that which remains in its place.

κρατεῖν τινος and κρατεῖν τι

The former signifies only to take hold of a thing, or to possess it; the latter, to have the whole of it, and to have it in his power.

ἄνευ χωρίς

There is this difference between these two particles, that χωρίς is referred to the subject as separated from the object; ἄνευ is referred to the object which is regarded as absent from the subject. See Mat. x. 29; where, if χωρίς had been used instead of ἄνευ, it would have affirmed that no sparrow is absent from the Father when it falls to the ground.

οὕπω μήπω

If we should say οὕπω τοῦτο, speaking of any act, we deny that it is yet done, but infer that it may yet be done hereafter; but if we say μήπω, we not only regard it as not done, but we doubt whether it shall yet be done at any time.

καταφρονεῖν περιφρονεῖν (ὑπερφρονεῖν)

Signify contempt. But the contempt of others is twofold, as the cause and the mode of it; either when we think less of others than they deserve, or more of ourselves than we ought. The former idea would be expressed by καταφρονεῖν, the latter by περιφρονεῖν. To this ὑπερφρονεῖν is nearly related, and is said of him who appears to himself to be wiser and more prudent than others.

ἀπ-, κατ-, ἀποκατ-, δι-αλλάττειν

Ἀπαλλάττειν is to remove; hence to reconcile, providing he who is sent away satisfied is appeased. Διαλλάττειν and καταλλάττειν have something in common, but the former is said of many, the latter of only one: the former is to cause a mutual enmity to cease; the latter, the conciliation of one party. Ἀποκαταλλάττειν is so to lay aside enmity that amity follows.

βλέπειν ὁρᾶν ἰδεῖν ὅπτεσθαι θεᾶσθαι (θεωρεῖν)

Βλέπειν is a word of wide extent, it is simply to use the eyes, to see; all who have sight, βλέπουσι.

Ὅρᾶν differs from βλέπειν in that while it means to see, yet it is referred to the thing seen or presented to the eye; βλέπει is said of one who uses his eyes, though he see nothing; ὁρᾷ, of one who sees something.

Ἰδεῖν must be referred rather to the mind of him who sees; so that as ὁρᾶν regards the object, ἰδεῖν should be referred in thought to the subject.

ὀπτεσθαι is a middle term between ὁρᾶν and ἰδεῖν, for it is referred at the same time to the object presented to the eye, and to the subject which sees and perceives. Hence it is found only in the pass. and mid. voices, representing a state rather than an action, and is not used in the pres. tense, since it regards something to have been done, or about to be done, as the means of arriving at cognizance.

Θεᾶσθαι and θεωρεῖν differ from the preceding in that they denote the intention of mind with which a man regards or contemplates an object; hence they are often used when the desire of seeing is to be expressed.

θέλω βούλομαι

Agree in meaning to will (velle); but θἄλω is simply to will (volition); while βούλεσθαι denotes the propension of mind by which we address ourselves to the thing that we have willed.

θυμός ὀργή

These differ not as to the duration, but as to the nature of the feeling. Ὀργή denotes anger, together with the desire of revenge; while θυμός is used to express a more intense passion of the mind, the enmity of a morose and passionate man.

ἐπιθυμέω ὀρέγομαι (ἐπιθυμία ὄρεξις)

Both these words mean desire. But ἐπιθυμέω denotes rather the affection of mind, and ἐπιθυμία the inward passion and concupiscence; ὀρέγομαι, the appetite and tendency towards the external object. In ἐπιθυμία only the mental desire is thought of; but ὄρεξις has conjoined with it the notion of the thing desired.

ἐκπλήσσεσθαι ἐκθαμβεῖσθαι ἐξίστασθαι

Are all similar, but differ both in degree and in the nature of the affection of the mind which they denote. Ἐκπλήσσεσθαι has the most extensive meaning, and is used of all things by which the mind is powerfully affected ; not only with fear, sorrow, anger, but also of those more pleasing objects, whose aspect stimulates love, reverence, or delight. Ἐκθαμβεῖσθαι is applied to those who by the sight or consideration of some great or fearful thing are horrified, both because the object itself gives rise to fear, and because the mind is scarcely able to conceive of its magnitude. Finally, ἐξίστασθαι is said of those who by any event are so far disturbed that they are not quite in their senses, and know not what they think or say.

φροντίζειν μεριμνᾶν

The former means only to care, to aim, to meditate, to give diligence, that a thing may be done, or be present ; the latter is so to care as to be truly solicitous that the thing should not be wanting.

σκληρός αὐστηρός

He is αὐστηρός who though not alien to human tenderness, yet represses it within him, because he deems that justice forbids him to concede anything of what is his due, or what is his right ; while he is σκληρός who asserts his right because the principle of humanity is wanting.

πραῦς ἥπιος χρηστός (πραΰτης χρηστότης)

These words are opposed to the two preceding. They differ as follows : πραῦς is gentle, who endures all things with an even temper ; ἥπιος is mild, especially towards the faults of others ; χρηστός, kindly, who wishes well, and desires to benefit others.

νήπιος ἄφρων ἀνόητος ἀσύνητος

with the substantives

ἀνοια ἀφροσύνη μωρία

Νήπιος is put for that simplicity of mind which is so pleasing in youth, inexperienced, unknowing ; hence it is a term of reproach towards those who think, feel, and act as children, when from their years they ought to have made further advances. Ἀφρων denotes one who does not rightly use his mental powers, and is often used without the idea of blame.

Ἀνόητος differs from both these: it is foolish, stupid; either really wanting in right reason, or that it is not properly exercised; appearing to know, the ἀνόητοι yet think and act perversely. And finally, ἀσύνετος is one who from density of mind does not perceive truth and right. The fault of the ἄφρονες is ἀφροσύνη; and of the ἀνόητοι, μαρρία; in the νήπιοι, ἀπλότης; in the ἀσύνετοι, ἀσυνεσία.

εὐσεβής εὐλαβής εὐσέβεια εὐλάβεια

Εὐσεβής expresses worship; but εὐλαβής indicates that disposition which dreads and avoids the doing anything contrary to right, and diligently labours to fulfil all the duties of piety and humanity; hence, εὐλάβεια is that piety which governs the soul; εὐσέβεια is the energy of piety in the life, both internal and external.

ἀκαθαρσία ἀσέλγεια ἀσωτία

Ἀκαθαρσία has the most extensive signification of these three, and denotes every kind of impurity of mind and conduct; ἀσέλγεια is the forwardness and peevish impertinence of one who is without modesty or retiredness; while ἀσωτία is the worthless debauchery of a man who leads a desperate life.

The Gospels Consolidated.

The object of this compilation has been to consolidate the matter of the four Gospels so as to form it into one continuous narrative, and at the same time to enable the reader to ascertain with facility the source from which each part has been derived.

The main endeavour has been, by placing the Gospel narrative before the reader in the form in which other narratives are now usually written, to enable him, unconsciously as it were, to receive all the information furnished by the four Gospels combined, without the labour and distraction of consulting the several Gospels; and, at the same time, to facilitate reference to the Gospels themselves for verification of the text.

A full Index to the Gospel history is also appended. Quarto. Cloth, 6s.

The Blank-paged Bible.

So many cherished Bibles, inconveniently crowded with brief records of study and instruction, have passed through the hands of the Publishers, that, while they have admired the skill and perseverance of writers in condensing so much within such confined limits, they have longed to provide a Bible which should conveniently afford a wider scope for these Annotations. In furtherance of this object they have issued an edition of the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, with copious References to Parallel and Illustrative Passages, and the alternate pages ruled for MS. Notes. Cloth, £1. (Half-morocco to order); Turkey morocco plain, £1. 13s. 6d.; Turkey morocco, or russia tooled to order, £1. 17s. 6d.
